JUNIOR FEDERAL MEN CLUB

Conducted by STEVE CARSON

HELLO again, fellows! Here we are with another swell issue and another 3 fine features! In the first place, I'm going to tell you about Dan Dalton. This adventure hero is one of the most interesting things ever to be thrown on the screen. Dan Dalton is a member of "Uncle Sam," the United States Secret Service, and is certainly one of the most daring and resourceful characters you will ever meet. Dan Dalton is a real hero, and you'll like him!

Take, for instance, the scene pictured at the top of this page.

Dan Dalton has been sent by his chief to the war zones, here to find out the whereabouts of a certain spy. Dan Dalton, posing as a newspaper correspondent, would obtain his credentials from the Secret Service Chief.

Dan Dalton succeeds in his mission by bringing him-himself to his chief's office, and with a cheery, friendly manner, he says, "Hello, Chief! Here I am!" Dan Dalton is a master of disguise, and he's a swell guy, too!

Dalton could have flown to the chief's office in an airplane. It has been stated that Dan Dalton is a master pilot and brings each one of his adventures to a thrilling climax in the air. Dalton's exploits are far more, and their interest is greater, than those of the ordinary detective.

Dan Dalton is a real master of disguises. Recently a fellow-member of the Secret Service was captured by the enemy. Dalton, disguised as a soldier, is to attempt to rescue his friend. He succeeds in getting into the enemy's prison camp, and finds his friend's room. The door won't budge, and Dalton is forced to climb through the window. He succeeds in getting his friend out of the window, and they escape to safety.

Dan Dalton is a master of disguises, and he's a swell guy, too! Be sure to read about him in every issue of JUNIOR FEDERAL MEN.

As all of disappearing, I'm going to tell you about Dan Dalton's latest exploit. Dan Dalton, disguised as a Secret Service Chief, has been sent to the war zones to find out the whereabouts of Jonathan Q. Smith, a spy. Dalton, posing as a newspaper correspondent, succeeds in getting his credentials from the Secret Service Chief.

Dalton is then sent to the United States Secret Service Chief, and he says, "Hello, Chief! Here I am!" Dalton has succeeded his assignment. He has brought the Secret Service Chief the information he has been seeking. Dalton could have flown to the Chief's office in an airplane. It has been stated that Dan Dalton is a master pilot and brings each one of his adventures to a thrilling climax in the air. Dalton's exploits are far more, and their interest is greater, than those of the ordinary detective.

Ah, Commissaire... Vous avez fait vite...
Oui, Monsieur le Maire. Mais je crains que ce ne soit pas assez...
Le corps a été découvert par le garde-chasse, Monsieur Lefèvre, ce matin à l'aube.
Il a été tué d'une balle dans la tête, tirée à bout portant.
Il n'y a pas d'arme à proximité. Pas de traces de lutte non plus.
Le meurtrier a dû s'approcher sans méfiance.
Un ami, donc.
Ou quelqu'un qu'il connaissait bien.
Le garde-chasse a-t-il vu quelque chose ?
Non. Il a entendu le coup de feu, mais il était trop loin pour voir qui que ce soit.
Il a couru vers le bruit et a trouvé le corps.
Nous allons interroger tout le monde, Monsieur le Maire.
Chaque habitant, chaque visiteur.
Quelqu'un a forcément vu ou entendu quelque chose.
Je l'espère, Commissaire. Je l'espère de tout mon cœur.
Car ce meurtre a jeté un voile sombre sur notre village.
Nous ne pouvons pas laisser un tel crime impuni.
Soyez-en assuré, Monsieur le Maire.
Nous ferons tout notre possible pour découvrir la vérité.
Et pour que justice soit rendue.

EMERGENCY CASE

By JACK ANTHONY

"Good news in Doctor Hardy's office today," they happily told the patients waiting there. "Doctor Hardy's gone fishing!"

But fortune favors Doctor Hardy's patients when Doctor Hardy's away. Especially when Doctor Hardy's away fishing!

Doctor Hardy's office was a pleasant place. Nothing ever happened there.

Then Hardy, his vacation and his fishing trip ended, returned to his office and found that something had happened there. Dead. Every patient he had.

He was the only man in the world who was alive. He was the only survivor of the worst disaster in history. He was the only man who could tell what had happened.

He did not know.

He looked around the vacant waiting room at the dead bodies of his patients. He looked at the dead body of his receptionist, and it was not a pretty sight. Then he looked at the dead body of Mrs. Hamilton Winthrop.

Mrs. Winthrop worked on the most expensive dress she had ever owned. She had been sitting in the waiting room, waiting for Hardy to call her, when the end came.

Hardy looked at her and shook his head. "Poor woman," he said. "She'll never get to wear that dress now."

Then he looked at the dead body of Mr. Hamilton Winthrop. "Poor man," he added. "He'll never get to wear it."

Hardy looked at the dead bodies of his patients, one after another. Then a thin, cold smile appeared on his face.

The doctor paused to read the label on the bottle. It was a bottle of pills, and the label directed several pills be taken at once. Hardy looked at the pills, and he looked at the dead bodies of his patients, and he looked at the bottle of pills again.

Then he looked at the bottle of pills again

Ah, Mr. Wilson, I see you've brought your family with you. Very wise.
Mr. Wilson, I'm afraid I have some bad news. Your son has been killed in the war.
Bad news is the name we give to the sad truth in the real world. But in the world of fiction, it's called a plot twist.
Because I'm not dead, Dad! I'm right here!

BLAM! A GUNSHOT SHATTERS THE SILENCE AS THE BULLET PIERCES THE SKULL OF THE FIRST ZOMBIE.
THE SECOND ZOMBIE LUNGES AT ANDREW, BUT HE DODGES AND SWINGS HIS BAT, KNOCKING THE ZOMBIE TO THE GROUND.
THE ZOMBIES ON THE OTHER SIDE OF THE STREET ARE ATTRACTED BY THE NOISE AND BEGIN TO MOVE TOWARD THE GUNSHOT.
THE FIRST ZOMBIE FALLS TO THE GROUND, DEAD.
THE SECOND ZOMBIE IS BACK ON ITS FEET, AND ANDREW SWINGS AGAIN, CRUSHING ITS SKULL.
ANDREW'S HEAD SNAPS UP. THERE'S SOMEONE ON THE ROOF OF THE BUILDING ACROSS THE STREET.
"HEY!" ANDREW SHOUTS. "HEY, I'M DOWN HERE!"
WITH A GRUNT AND A FINAL SWING, ANDREW KILLS THE ZOMBIE.
BEFORE ANDREW CAN RUN, A BULLET SHATTERS THE PAVEMENT AT HIS FEET.
ANDREW'S EYES WIDEN AS HE REALIZES THAT THE SHOOTER IS AIMING AT HIM.
ANDREW TURNS AND RUNS AS ANOTHER BULLET RICOCHETS OFF THE PAVEMENT.
